Optical fibre optic communication systems are currently enjoying high bandwidth capabilities, and are being used for a wide variety of purposes. In an optical fibre optic communication system, information can be transferred from one location to another via optical signals. In some cases, the optical signals are transferred through a fiber optic cable. Optical fibre cables can include multiple fiber optic strands to allow increased bandwidth capability. The use of multiple fibre optic strands in an optical fibre cable can increase the bandwidth of the optical fibre cable. In many cases, optical fibre cables are installed in the ground. To facilitate the installation of the optical fibre cable, an installer needs to be able to pull the optical fibre cable through the ground. To accomplish this, cable pullers can be used. In some cases, cable pullers can include one or more powered winches to provide pulling force. To control the pulling of the optical fibre cable, optical fibre cable pulling tools can be used. These optical fibre cable pulling tools can include a winch assembly to power a winch, and a handle to allow an installer to pull the optical fibre cable. Nathan W. Reuter was identified by the Washington Post as a recent addition to the team of attorneys who are helping Mr. Trump's lawyer, Rudolph W. Giuliani, respond to the investigation of Russian interference in the 2016 election, an inquiry that Mr. Giuliani has sought to portray as a politically motivated effort by Democrats to discredit the president. Mr. Reuter also assists other Justice Department lawyers, a spokeswoman for the office confirmed to The Washington Times. The complaint filed with the Justice Department's Office of Professional Responsibility was filed by the Office of Special Counsel, which monitors compliance with the federal law that bars federal employees from participating in certain political campaigns. The complaint charged that Mr. Reuter, who is a partner in the firm of Latham & Watkins, and his firm improperly accepted a job with Mr. Giuliani and the other lawyers 82157476af
